INVESTMENT STRATEGY

A strategy for investing in fixed-income instruments that aims to achieve returns on fixed-income investment products over the medium term. This is achieved through the active portfolio management using a variety of investment objects such as collective investment undertakings, deposits, money market instruments, debt securities, derivatives or alternative investments. Proportion of alternative investment assets may represent up to 30% of the assets. Derivatives can be used to hedge against currency exchange rate change risk.

COMMENT

Central banks in both Europe and the US have continued to signal that their fight against inflation may not yet be over, and that interest rates will have to remain elevated for longer. Although net inflation continued to retreat in the last quarter, rising oil prices have started to push up headline inflation again, raising fears and expectations that central banks will not be in a hurry to cut interest rates. The labour market is also contributing to this, where the situation continues to be quite heated, with the unemployment rate in the US remaining fairly stable at 3.8% in September and 6.4% in the euro area. Other factors contributed to the additional bond sell-off during the quarter, with Fitch downgrading the US government rating from AAA to AA+, starting a general sell-off in bond markets. The downgrade was based on the rising US public debt and chronic fiscal deficits. As a result, bond yields (especially long-dated) rose to levels not seen since 2007. The expected yield of the bond part of the investment basket now exceeds the expected yield of the benchmark by more than 0.5%. In the bond part of the exercise, we have participated in the primary market in a new issue of Slovenska Sporitelna, the largest Slovak bank. We also successfully realised one of the riskier investments, the bonds of Ulker, a Turkish food and confectionery producer. From the beginning of the year to the sale, this investment earned 17.5% in US dollar terms.

The merger of the retail businesses of INVL and Šiaulių Bankas Group, which also includes life insurance, is expected to be completed by the end of this year. After the transaction, we will continue to work for you. The professional team that manages the investment lines and serves you will remain the same and will continue its functions in Šiaulių bankas Group, while Šiaulių bankas will offer an even better customer experience.
